Mining Notes.

The F. C. Richmond Machinery company has removed its offices from the Melintosh building to 117-119 West Second South street.

Engineer L. G. Burlon, managing the Comet placer operations in Nevada, has written the local office that the high bump has been received and that it will not take long now to install the same. He expects to be washing out gold in a very short time.

COLORADO TO CEASE RED TOP COMPANY DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

Taking Conservative Course

for Time Being.

The stock of the Colorado Mining comwas battered back and forth on the local exchange Friday, the report having gained circulation that the company has been missing from the ore-shipment colbeen missing from the ore-stipment col-mons during the week and that the day of dividends was over until more ore was found. Such a condition withs this famous old Tintle proposition has been anticipated by the market action of the steck for many months past, and that it want expected by the officials of the or-ganization is evident from the fact that the commany has retained close to $100.-000 in the treasury to prosecute further development work.

zanization is evident from the fact that the company has retained close to $100.000 in the treasory to prosecute further development work.

But the Colorado is not yet at the liquidation stage, nor has it ccased ore shipments entirely. The great body of rich ore is practically exhausted, and there are several apots left where a limited tonnage of shipping grade rock will be found and mined, but the company must depend upon more depth for more dividend material. This depth is being gained from the Crown Foint property adjoining, the crosscut from which will tap the Colorado at a depth of about 1000 feet. It will take several weeks for this work to be completed and connections made so that the hunt for new ore can be undertaken.

The chances for Colorado finding new ore bodies are deemed favorable by engineers knowing the conditions of the mine. The first ore occurred in a bed of lime that extended completely across the length of the property, and which has not been shown to extend below the main working level. The question of securing future resources is merely one of sinking to the lower lime beds, where conditions should be as favorable for the formation of ore as they were above.

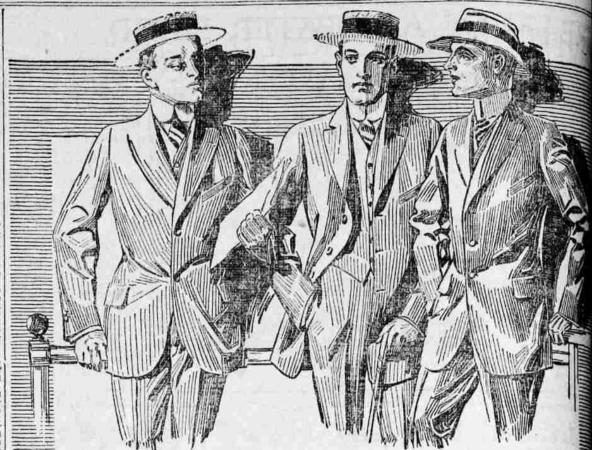

There is a considerable tonnage of ore left in the mine too low in grade to be salipped, to handle which the company during the first year or so of ore shipments was one of the most spectacular dividend payers of the state, and the one body of ore has been productive of $2,450,000 in dividends to date.

As long as ore shipments are limited, and the company acres and evelopment campaign of the importance of that now under way, stockholders will find it difficult to criticise the directors should they determine to cease dividends. the most effective life preserver ever ase of Nevada organizations is Her-uan Zadig of San Francisco, who has
